

The Indigenous Law Journal

at the University of Toronto

The Indigenous Law Journal at the University of Toronto is now accepting submissions from Students and Professionals for Volume IX (Fall 2010)

Call for Submissions Deadline September 30, 2009

The Indigenous Law Journal is dedicated to developing dialogue and scholarship in the field of Indigenous legal issues in Canada & internationally. We encourage submissions from all perspectives. Our central concerns are Indigenous legal systems and legal systems as they affect Indigenous peoples.

For there to be an effective dialogue in the field of Indigenous legal issues, it is our view that Indigenous legal systems must have a strong voice and presence in legal scholarship. Therefore, we strongly encourage contributors to submit works focusing on Indigenous legal orders. Submissions on legal systems as they affect Indigenous peoples will continue to be accepted.

For full details on the submissions process and student awards, please see www.indigenouslawjournal.org

Please address questions to Ajay Winterburn and Mark Gustafson, Co-Editors-in-Chief, at submissions.ilj@utoronto.ca.

Submit to:

SUBMISSIONS.ILJ@UTORONTO.CA